to take the necessary steps for the ultimate acquirement of the full square embraced by Hackfeld, spencer, Alapai and Quarry streets, but especially and in any event the lot at the corner of Hackfeld and Spencer streets known as the Wolters property."

Mr. Dodge produced some correspondence relative to the enlisting of the school children in the Central Improvement Club's work for May to secure clean sidewalks.

There was a form of letter to prin-cipals which Mr. Babbitt thought not just the right thing, and for which he promised to draft a substitute and have the business in the hands of principals within a few days.

On motion of Mr. Farrington, seconded by Mr. A-l, the matter was left with the Superintendent. Mrs. Dowsett read a letter she had received from Miss Hadley, the lately appointed principal of Lahaina school. The wister related an interview she had held with Inspector Davis, in which he informed her, in answer to a direct question, that the reason he appointed Mrs. Gannon over her headthe action that the Board reversed— was that he did not think Miss Hadley was physically capable of handling such a large school. As she had been appointed by the Board, however, Mr. Davis cordially assured her of his best support.

Miss Hadley wrote to thank Mrs. Dowsett for her able championship of her cause and to solicit its renewal when a petition for her removal, which the learned would be forwarded, came

SPANISH PADRE WAS NOT A SMUGGLER

The biography of the Spanish padre ecompanying the S. S. Heliopolis from Malaga on her recent trip with immigrants for these islands, as given to the press and published the day after the arrival of the newcomers, turns out a crab as "a red fish that walks backwards." This description was correct except that a crab is not a fish, neither is it red, nor does it walk backwards.

The history of the Padre, as published, was that he had been at one time a smuggler on the Spanish main and one of Butcher Weyler's men in Cuba afterwards, both of which items of news he denies with a good deal of member of the Spanish army in Cuba, having been drafted as a conscript during his university days, in 1896, and served two years against the revolutionists. #### MR. TURNER IN BOSTON.

"Among others who have reported indignation. It is true that he was a at the transportation committee's headquarters in the Pope Building on Columbus avenue is Rev. E. B. He is also at the head of the Boys' Clubs of the islands, and president of the Sunday School Association of Hawaii, which "In answer to question concerning olitical affairs on the islands, and espe cially the Japanese question, he spoke freely of the present outlook. ·We have had no such trouble as they experienced in San Francisco,' he said, because we have had a rigid language test which excluded from the public schools all who could not use fluently the English language. We have met the widespread desire among the Japanese for an education in the English tongue by the establishment of night schools, which have been started and maintained by churches, social settlements and by private philanthropy, and which have been most eagerly patronized by Japanese. These classes have not only been a means to the end of reaching these people with our religion, but it has aided in the general educational problem of the islands.'

"In reply to an inquiry as to the effect of the recent anti-Japanese crusade on the Pacific coast, and the new treaty regulations, Mr. Turner replied: There has been a very keen interest in this matter among our Japanese. They have been an exceedingly restless class, coming to our islands for only a short time, and auxious to move on into California and other States of the Union. We are greatly dependent upon these people for labor in our cane fields; without them we can not well carry on the sixty and more huge plantations, which send to this country every years $25,000,000 worth of raw sugar for refining in San Francisco or New York. The Japanese are a reliable and useful class of workmen, provided they will remain with us; but we have suffered much from their unwillingness to stay on the islands. Now we are likely to have a more satisfactory condition. The new treaty regulations were just going into effect when I left, and it is too early to tell Works. when I left, and it is too early to tell Works, were on the trip. By using the best judgment and without partiality all will be well and the children must obey you and honor you and love you. I trust you will consider this matter more carefully in every respect for the general good of the family and for the welfare of the future. What more could I do. I know I have done my duty to provide you all comfortably and handsomely in everything, and what a disgraceful thing is that that such trouble has happened. I sincere ly trust you will carry out my wishes and the wishes in my last letter to you; as you have said that you will not want to do anything without my advice and knowledge, to the satisfaction of all our children. I now send this, with aloha to you.

"Your affectionate husband,

"C. A. AFONG."

Third: That this defendant was in formed that her mother acquiesced in the construction placed upon said deed of her father, and that she agreed to limit the amount to be expended by her as such trustee to said sum of Six Hundred Dollars per month, and that the remainder of the income of said trust fund would be allowed to accumulate for all the Afong children Fourth: That thereafter and in the full belief that this defendant's mother recognized that the income from the principal trust fund to be paid to her under said trust deed was a frust fund to be expended by her according to the provision of said deed, this defendant and the other plaintiffs in said suit discontinued the same.

Fifth: That after said suit was dis continued this defendant believed and so avers that her mother for some time administered said trust and limited. herself to the amount suggested by her father but that finally her mother began to claim that said income and surplus was her own absolute property, and although her mother acted at times with great hostility to some of her the course of justice in shielding the partiality to others who in turn she would treat with great hostility showing great favoritism and partiality to hostile, this defendant and other chilfund and that upon her death that which remained would go in equal shares to all of her said children as she had repeatedly told her children that they would be treated just alike. no one better than the other. Therefore this defendant and certain other of the children of said Julia concluded not to take any steps to bring the matter to the attention of the court, thinking it better to suffer some injustice than to cause the notoriety of litigation and distress of mind to their mother, as they were willing that she should have all of the income from said trust fund which she should re quire for her maintenance in a luxuriant manner not desiring to deprive her of anything that she needed.

Sixth: That this defendant as an additional ground of unfitness of her mother to administer said surplus trust fund says, that she is informed and belief alleges and avers that her mother did, prior to the filing of this suit and has repeatedly since such filing, spread false and defamatory statements about this defendant and certain other of her children to the effect that they did upon the 6th day of October, 1906, go to the house of said Julia in upper Nuuanu valley in Honolulu, and there demand that she should sign a paper tions or their extent. giving them money, and that upon her defendant and her sisters who went about to whip her when assistance came | sler. to her and prevented the same, all of which is untrue, excepting that this ing san Francisco with Puget sound.

Honolulu and Salina Cruz, under the defendant and her hashand with eer drydock command of Captain Charies Nichola, tain of her sisters and their husbands, May 24.

AFONG FAMILY did go to the house of their mother upon the date in question and sat down with her at her invitation and expressly stated that they came there as her dutiful children to tell her of certain seandalous stories that were being circulated in the city of Honolulu against her good name for the purpose of enabling her to put an end to such scandal, and that thereupon this defendant's mother became frantic and reviled her and her husband and her other daughters and their busbands with torrents of abuse and violently assaulted some of her daughters then present, that not one word was suggested or hinted to this defendant's mother, that she should sign any paper or make any disposition whatever of the accumulated trust fund or that she in any way give or pay to this defendant or any of her sisters going with her upon that occasion or their husbands or to the husband of this defendant any money whatsoever nor was this defendant's mother beaten, struck, or even threatened with any violence in any manner whatsoever.

Seventh: That if said accumulated income is held by this court to be a trust fund, this defendant alleges that it is highly improper that her mother should have the custody or control thereof.

Wherefore this defendant joins in the prayer of said bill that said surplus income be declared to he a trust fund and that said Julia H. Afong be removed as trustee and that a new trustee be appointed to succeed her in the said trust.

HONOLULU TO BE MADE IMPREGNABLE

Portland, Ore., Telegram.-Strong fortifications will be built at Honolulu by the United States Government as soon as the plans can be agreed upon by a corps of engineers. Among the experts is Colonel S. W. Roessler, who left for the islands Saturday night in accordance with instructions which he had just received from the War Department. He will take passage from San Francisco tomorrow, and is not expected to return to Portland for three or four weeks. Though meager information A given out by the Government officials, it is understood that it is planned to make Honolulu as nearly impregnable as possible. Extensive barracks will be children showing great favoritism and established and large armed forces will be kept constantly on the islands. The decision to get the Hawaiian Islands in readiness for war was hastenthose to whom she had been previously ed by the reported attitude of the Japanese during the consideration of dren of said Julia thought that as the San Francisco school affair. All their mother was growing old and real. through that controversy, and since ly had the interest of her children at then, there has been repeated talk heart she would not squander said about the ease with which the Mikado could land forces at Honolulu. After Uncle Sam completes the task on which the best talent in the engineering department is now employed, the belief is general that neither the Japanese nor any other nation will have an easy task in taking possession of the Hawaiian Islands. In Honolulu the engineers will study the topography of the country thoroughly and decide the most suitable location for the fortifications. An exhaustive report will then be made to the War Department, after which building operations will be started. Much cement and other building material will be needed and it is likely the Government will place a number of transports in service from European ports to the islands. The greatest secreey will be maintained as to the plans of the fortifications. None of the prying islanders believes and upon such information and will be allowed near the premises when construction work is under way. For miles around the scene of activity armed sentries will keep all spics at a respectful distance. After the work has been completed, it is said that no one but those directly in the employ of the United States Government, and who have business over there, will have any idea as to the plan of the fortifica-
